RECREATIONS

PICTURES AT HAWAII DRAW BIG AUDIENCE

The new films at the Hawaii last night brought forth some high praise for the selections. There was the usual run of sensation, comedy, drama and love told in pictures with such realism that the sympathies of the audience were shown by hearty applause. "For Washington," a revolutionary war story, showed the surrender of General Rahl to Washington and his band of Continental soldiers. An extremely interesting picture was "The Swastika," which told of the love of a Carlist Indian for the cultured girl of the East. His determination to win the girl is so marked that he brands her forehead with a mysterious sign, for which the cowboys go after him hammer and tongs. "Seven Bars of Gold" and the "Swindle" are interesting. These will be shown again tonight.

MISS COLLAIS TO APPEAR AT MRS. INGALLS' RECITAL

Miss Edith Rosslyn Collais, dramatic soprano, who will be heard in connection with Mrs. Arthur B. Ingalls' recital at the Empire Sept. 30, is well known to music lovers of Honolulu.

Miss Collais was engaged as principal soloist at the 23rd avenue Presbyterian church in Denver, and also at the Grand avenue Methodist church in Milwaukee. She received her German coaching from Frau Hesse-Sprote, at Milwaukee, where she made a fine impression with her good work and pleasing personality.

In concert work, while touring the Central States, she was very successful, especially in oratorical work both from Elijah and the Messiah.

The directors of the Oahu college have considered themselves very fortunate in securing the services of Miss Collais as vocal teacher, and she has more than made good in her masterful handling of the pupils at that school.

"I think, sir, that you are sitting on my hat." "Is yours a soft or a hard hat?" "It is a soft hat, sir." "Then I am not sitting on it."
